SPECIAL NOTICE.

For a long time I have been adding to my list of coin collectors, until now the number is several thousand. From time to time for the last twenty years I have issued catalogues for the use of collectors, and sent them to all who were personally known to me, and to some who were not. Many gentlemen to whom I have sent them have never made any response, and I am left in doubt whether the catalogues are received, or, if received, are acceptable.

The cost of catalogues is so great, and my list so extensive, that I am now compelled to revise it by dropping all of whom I have no special present knowledge, as I suspect I am sending catalogues to many who have changed their residences, and to others who no longer are interested in the subject. I therefore respectfully request from each one receiving this catalogue, who is not a correspondent, an acknowledgment of the same, and information as to whether or not future issues are desirable. I shall infer, from a failure to comply with this request, a change of residence which prevents the pamphlet from reaching its destination, or an indifference to the subject which renders it undesirable.

This request, of course, is not addressed to my regular correspondents, though I am always happy to hear from them; and I remark, further, that I will gladly send catalogues to all collectors who desire them, whether in regular correspondence with me or not.

W. ELLIOT WOODWARD.

A WORD TO CORRESPONDENTS.—I always cheerfully and promptly answer, so far as I am able, every inquiry, but I beg to suggest to correspondents who write on their own business only, the propriety of enclosing stamps for return postage. When I say that I am not seldom called on by entire strangers (usually by postal card) to send all sorts of information on all sorts of subjects, involving in some cases visits to distant parts of the city, the writing of long letters, and in more instances than one the preparation of lengthy catalogues of books, merchandise, etc., this request, I feel assured, will not be deemed unreasonable.

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

BRIC-A-BRAC, INDIAN AND PRE-HISTORIC RELICS,

RARE AMERICAN BOOKS, ETC.

ALWAYS ON HAND A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF THE ABOVE.

Collections, large or small, or single articles, bought for cash at liberal prices.

Special attention given to Auction Sales, which I hold in New York and Boston nearly every month during the season. Consignments of any amount received for sale in either city as the owner may prefer.

Collections catalogued and prepared for sale by auction or otherwise. Executors and others having miscellaneous, art and literary property to dispose of, may save themselves much trouble, and insure the largest returns possible by availing themselves of this feature of my business, to which I will always give most faithful attention. Satisfactory references furnished when required.

FOR SALE, a collection of the Fractional Currency issued by cities, towns, banks, corporations and individuals at the North during the late civil war; about 1900 specimens of every denomination, from One Cent to One Dollar, all neatly mounted on thick paper, quarto size, with elegant title pages for most of the denominations; original designs in water colors by an artist of ability. A large proportion of the notes are signed, and nearly every one is in fine condition. It is believed that no other collection of like magnitude or quality was formed at the time, and the formation of a similar one at this time would be simply impossible. It is well worthy a place in any library or collection.

Fifty copies of this Catalogue, printed for collectors, on heavy, tinted paper, uniform in style and quality with the Holland and subsequent Catalogues, are offered for sale, priced, $1.00; unpriced, 50 cents. A few copies only of the entire series, commencing with the Holland sale, can be furnished, priced or unpriced.
